

Dear Colleague

Olympic Route Network Update

On 29th July 2010, the Olympic Delivery Authority published plans that will help ensure that London keeps moving during the 2012 Games. A key element of the Transport Plan for the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games is both the Olympic Route Network and Paralympic Route Network (ORN/PRN). This is a network of roads that will be used for moving athletes, officials and other members of the Games Family between their accommodation and venues, which will be essential to the success of the Games.

Please click here to download the 'On time' document that explains how the ORN and PRN will work during the Games in 2012.

Ahead of further consultation, this document sets out the location and extent of the route network that will help people who are essential to the Games get to their venues, whilst ensuring millions of Londoners are able to go about their business with as little disruption as possible.

If you require any further information on the ORN/PRN, please contact the Olympic Delivery Agency Engagement Team at orn@london2012.com or contact the ODA's Road Freight Interface Manager, David Silvey on 020 3023 6052.
