Dear Colleague

Street Urination Enforcement Operations – Results

Heart of London Business Alliance, Westminster City Council Inspectors and the West End & Chinatown Safer Neighbourhood Police Team have been working together to tackle one of the most common causes of complaint in our area.

Three weekends in May saw anti-street urination enforcement operations take place; this resulted in 40 people reported for urinating in the street and summoned to court. Fines issued can range from £50 to £250.

These operations follow on from those which took place in December 2009, the final results of which, published in March, saw 24 individuals caught and fined after facing magistrates.

In addition to these targeted operations, Heart of London Business Alliance continue to fund the jet washing of specific doorways and entrances that suffer from excessive street urination and staining. This is in response to requests from our businesses; please contact us if you would like your premises included.

Discussions are in progress for further operations of this nature to take place, together with long-term strategies to prevent street urination within our area.

*Please pass to us any feedback or comments you have regarding these operations.
